

Tamice Jones, MD

Center Medical Director

“Today, I consider it a privilege to care for seniors and to have them trust that I will help or, as some might say, 'heal' them.”

About Tamice Jones, MD

For Dr. Tamice Jones, her passion for medicine started with a longing to heal someone very close to her. "My mother was diagnosed with a chronic illness during my childhood," she says. "I saw how it affected my family. As a young child, my desire to cure her led to my curiosity in medicine and science. Today, I consider it a privilege to care for seniors and to have them trust that I will help or, as some might say, 'heal' them. It’s very fulfilling when you’re successful at helping someone that way."
