

“I enjoy getting to know patients and their families on a deep, personal level and the feeling of satisfaction that comes from knowing I can help them lead longer, healthier lives.”

About Michael Gross, MD

As a kid growing up in Ashland, KY, Dr. Michael Gross had a passion for two things: science and playing football. “I knew early on that I was probably not going to be good enough to play professional football,” he says jokingly “so, I focused on studying science and becoming a physician instead. Today, I enjoy getting to know patients and their families on a deep, personal level and the feeling of satisfaction that comes from knowing I can help them lead longer, healthier lives. The majority of my most satisfying doctor patient relationships have fallen within the senior population, which has the greatest need for primary care and guidance.”
