

“I love to not only care for patients but also empower them to achieve their goals with health education.”

About Traci Biskupovich, FNP-C

Traci Biskupovich is a certified family nurse practitioner who is dedicated to making a difference for her patients' health and quality of life. “I love to not only care for patients but also empower them to achieve their goals with health education,” Traci says. She has extensive experience caring for people of all ages and graduated from nursing school (and high school) in New Orleans.

In her free time, Traci enjoys spending time with her family, reading, cooking, and traveling – especially to west coast beach cities like San Francisco.
