About Jennifer Sterling, FNP

Jennifer Sterling is a family nurse practitioner. She earned her bachelor’s degree from Chamberlain College of Nursing in Miramar, Florida and her master’s degree from Walden University in Minneapolis, Minneapolis. She is a member of the American Association of Nurse Practitioners. Jennifer strives to provide excellent care to her patients.

“I enjoy educating patients and building trusting relationships with them,” Jennifer said. Jennifer and her husband have three sons.

When she is not working she stays busy with her sons’ baseball games; they have played travel baseball for the last 15 years.
