

“Seniors have braved life, sacrificed so much for their families, and helped build the foundations of our communities. They are most worthy of respect and deserve the best care.”

About Vincent Lee, MD

Dr. Vincent Lee has been passionate about helping people stay healthy since he was in high school. As a primary care physician, he says “What I enjoy most is getting to know patients and hearing about their life stories. We have honest talks and I treat them like I do my own family with their health and well being as my top priority.” Focusing on seniors has been a joy and privilege for Dr. Lee. “Seniors have braved life, sacrificed so much for their families, and helped build the foundations of our communities. They are most worthy of respect and deserve the best care,” he adds.

When Dr. Lee is not caring for his patients or staying up with the latest medical research, he loves to spend time with his family. Some of his favorite activities include hiking, exploring wildlife, playing tennis and eating Japanese food.
