About David Hart, MD

Dr. David Hart cannot imagine working anywhere besides healthcare. His favorite part of his profession is the “constant learning and then being able to apply back some of the fun I have had learning to benefit patients.” He understands that assisting patients should be the focus of healthcare. Dr. Hart enjoys serving the senior population and especially likes guiding patients to their best health. “Helping others is my passion, we make the biggest difference when we help others learn to help themselves,” he explains. To keep up with the ever-evolving medical advancements, Dr. Hart often reads and studies.

When not with patients, Dr. Hart loves spending time with his family and reading. He also finds enjoyment in tinkering with computers and machines.
