

“I’m passionate about health promotion, patient engagement, and maintaining healthy communities.”

About Ashirifia Larsey, DNP, NP-C

Originally from Ghana, Dr. Ashirifia Larsey has been working as a registered nurse for 12 years and a nurse practitioner for 3 years in the United States. “I’m passionate about health promotion, patient engagement, and maintaining healthy communities,” she says. Dr. Larsey likes “partnering with patients to create plans that will improve their health.” She was greatly influenced by her grandmother and especially loves serving the senior population. Dr. Larsey says working with seniors offers an opportunity to view the aging process, think about what matters in life, and learn from their experiences. “Seniors always appreciate your time and what you do for them,” she adds.

In her free time, Dr. Larsey enjoys relaxing, watching cooking shows, and singing.
