

“I see my patients as my extended family and treat them with kindness, compassion, and a caring manner with honest and open answers.”

About Mansur Haque, MD

A collection of experiences led Dr. Mansur Haque to pursue medicine. “I realized this is what I really enjoy doing and want to continue doing for the rest of my life,” he says. He believes that “prevention is better than cure.” He explains, “I strongly believe in value-based care and want to promote better health in underserved communities.” He enjoys “the complexity of medicine” and is thankful for the learning opportunity of each case. “I see my patients as my extended family and treat them with kindness, compassion, and a caring manner with honest and open answers,” he says.

Dr. Haque likes staying active through sports and enjoying the outdoors in his free time. He also loves traveling and has visited over fifteen countries.
