

“I love medicine and making a difference in my patients' lives.”

About Juliette Staples, MSN, FNP

In only seventh grade, Juliette Staples knew she wanted to pursue a career in healthcare. “I love medicine and making a difference in my patients' lives,” she says. She enjoys building relationships with patients and their families. Her favorite part of her profession is “helping a patient become healthier.” She believes healthcare should prioritize listening to patients instead of focusing on profit. “I am here for them to achieve their health goals,” she explains. She adds, “I find it quite an honor to take care of seniors.”

In her free time, Juliette Staples enjoys playing pickleball, traveling, and spending time at the pool with her children and grandchildren. She also enjoys practicing yoga and hopes to learn how to box.
