“I made a promise to myself that I would be that person to help those vulnerable populations to navigate the complex system of medicine while encouraging preventative care.”

About Latonya Darensbourg, MSN, FNP

Latonya Darensbourg believes in “being proactive instead of reactive.” She explains, “When my grandmother passed away, I made a promise to myself that I would be that person to help those vulnerable populations to navigate the complex system of medicine while encouraging preventative care and overall good health.” She loves building strong relationships with patients and their families by being transparent, a good listener, and acknowledging their concerns and apprehensions. She treats patients with dignity and vows to always “go the extra mile.”

In her down time, Latonya Darensbourg enjoys gardening, reading, and spending time with family. She also loves listening to jazz music and playing her piano.
