“To me, being a doctor fulfills my passion to serve the community.”

About Tanushri Mavinahally, MD

Dr. Tanushri Mavinahally recognized her interested in the medical field early in life. “From a young age, I have always been fascinated about being a physician. To me, being a doctor fulfills my passion to serve the community,” she explains. Seeing the joy on her patients’ faces as they improve their health is her favorite part of working in healthcare. She explains that she actively listens to patients to understand both “their needs” and “their environment,” which helps strengthen her relationship with her patients.

When Dr. Mavinahally is not caring for her patients, she can be found cooking, traveling, or enjoying quality time with her husband. She is also interested in Bollywood dancing.
