

“I hope that they can learn to trust me and feel empowered to manage their chronic medical problems along with me.”

About Michael L. Radzienda, MD, SFHM

Dr. Michael L. Radzienda’s aptitude for science, desire to help others, and his grandparents’s influence led him to the medical field. He explains, “My grandparents had chronic medical problems, and as a young boy, I always felt helpless around them because there was nothing I could do to ease their suffering.” He treats his patients like family and enjoys getting to know them beyond their medical concerns. “I hope that they can learn to trust me and feel empowered to manage their chronic medical problems along with me,” he says. He wants patients to feel like a partners. “I am here to help you overcome barriers to better health,” he says.

Dr. Radzienda loves watching movies and getting meals with his three sons in his free time.
