“Being a health provider is being more than a reconstructive angel, we are a true refuge for those who need it most.”

About Ariamna Fleites Gomez, CNP

Working as a healthcare provider is a “dream come true” for Ariamna “Ari” Fleites. “Aging is a natural and often unsupported process, filled with sadness and hopelessness. Humanity, empathy and compassion rebuild the soul and hope. Being a health provider is being more than a reconstructive angel, we are a true refuge for those who need it most,” she says. Ari strives to provide patients with “comprehensive care that includes all spheres of life” by actively listening and treating them with empathy. She wants her patients to know that she truly cares about them.

When not with patients, Ari enjoys traveling, trying new experiences, walking along the beach, and spending quality time with friends.
