“By listening, educating, and advocating for my patients, especially seniors, I help them feel empowered, respected, and supported.”

About Ernestine Agbor Enohnyaket, DNP, MSN, MPH, BA, BSN, APRN-CNP

“Working with the senior population has always felt like a calling,” explains Ernestine Agbor Enohnyaket, who strives to build trusting relationships with patients by “honoring their experiences and providing a supportive, patient-centered environment where they feel heard and valued.” Rather than only treating symptoms, she believes in treating patients holistically with “compassionate, individualized care.” She explains, “By listening, educating, and advocating for my patients, especially seniors, I help them feel empowered, respected, and supported.”

Ernestine A. Enohnyaket’s favorite way to spend her free time is with family. She also enjoys exploring new cultures and cooking, especially as a way to “bring people together.”
