

“I chose to pursue a career in medicine to help improve the quality of life of my patients.”

About Bruce Ira Timins, MD, FACC, FACP

Dr. Bruce Ira Timins has been working in healthcare for over thirty years, specializing in Internal Medicine and Cardiology. He has conducted considerable research on heart blocks, resulting in two publications. Dr. Ira Timins chose to pursue a career in medicine because he wanted to help “improve the quality of life” of his patients. He especially wants to help his senior patients maintain independence. To help build strong relationships with patients, he always takes the time to actively listen to their questions and concerns.

When he is not caring for his patients, Dr. Ira Timins can be found working on projects with his wife or spending time with his Golden Retriever. He also enjoys staying active through walking.
