

“I am empathic and caring towards my patient's needs”

About Anthony Chukwurah, MD

Dr. Anthony Chukwurah was called to care for the elderly through a deeply personal experience — providing care for his father before his passing. "I have since loved to continue that part of providing care to the elderly," he says. That experience ignited a lifelong passion for serving older adults with the same dedication, compassion, and empathy he showed his own family. Dr. Chukwurah builds strong relationships by truly listening to his patients and honoring their perspective on their own health. He believes that longitudinal care — showing up consistently over time — is the foundation of meaningful, lasting impact. "I am empathic and caring towards my patient's needs," he says.

When not with patients, Dr. Chukwurah is an avid table tennis enthusiast and currently competes at the state level in Georgia.
